

DAVENTRY'S SUPER BROADCASTING STATION.

ENGINEERING FEATS BEING SURMOUNTED.
RISK OF "JAMMING" MINIMISED.

Those who might listen to wireless programmes have little knowledge of the pioneer work which has been and is being performed by the British Broadcasting Company, states the "Herald" of Birmingham. Events of the last two years have moved so swiftly that today we take our radio entertainment for granted, and would be loath to doubt if we failed to get a response when we tuned in. Indeed, we have in this short space of time grown to regard the radio set as nearly as infallible as the electric light bulb or the cold-water tap. There are, however, great engineering feats which stand between us and successful reception, and one of these is now being performed near the ancient town of Daventry, Northamptonshire. Here the B.B.C. is erecting a new super station to take the place of the existing high-power station at Chelmsford.

The chosen site has a great deal to commend it. Unlike Chelmsford, it is not in near proximity to one of the great area centres from which entertainment or information is disseminated. It stands not far distant from the natural centre of England—the nearest area station is Birmingham, some 40 miles distant, with London and the rest certainly not within 50 miles. The risk of "jamming" is therefore likely to be reduced to the minimum. The site is also on an eminence nearly 600 feet above sea-level, and this natural altitude is to be amplified by the erection of a lofty aerial, 500 feet above the ground. Central situation and open space afford for alternative programmes for the greatest possible number of subscribers is thus assured. The work has already been begun, and it is expected that the scheme will be completed and the transfer accomplished by the end of March.

STAFF CHANGES AT RUGBY SCHOOL.

ACCOMMODATION FULLY TAXED.

Rugby School re-assembles on Thursday. There will be about 620 boys on the register or on this term, and the accommodation will be fully taxed. The teaching staff will include two new novice masters, Mr. J. Farrant and C. L. Salmon, and the most notable absentee of the old will be Mr. A. H. Cusie, who was a novice master for about thirty years.

PEEPS INTO THE PAST. EXTRACTS FROM THE "RUGBY ADVERTISER" 50 YEARS AGO.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 23RD, 1875.

RUGBY MEDICITY SOCIETY.

During the year ending 31st December, 1873, 606 persons and 64 children, making a total of 670 persons, received the benefit of the society. In the past year 445 men and women and 53 children, total 498, or about 60 per cent, fewer than during the first year of the Society's operations, were relieved. By the return of the Deputy Chief Constable, 1,133 persons were referred and sent to the Workhouse last year. His statement that many who were sent to the Workhouse were afterwards found at the lodging house is worthy of note.

RUGBY LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

At the meeting on Saturday last there were present: James Atty, Esq., chairman, and the Rev. C. Elce, Messrs. Cooper and Haswell. The chairman read an estimate of the cost of building the new hospital, amounting to £2,100; this included ambulance, horse, and road-making, disinfecting apparatus, etc., but not interior furniture or nurses' expenses, etc. The Chairman said the hospital must be looked upon at present as merely temporary, the Board had not yet got the sanction of the Local Government Board to make it of a permanent character, and until they had that it would be well not to lay out more money than was absolutely necessary. He was not at all sure that they should get the sanction. Three plans were examined and passed—viz., one by Mr. Manning, on behalf of Mr. A. Law, for a painter's shop at the back of some premises in Pennington Street; one by Mr. Manning, on behalf of Mr. Tresselt, for stables in West Street, and one by Messrs. Parnell & Son for a new machine shed in Pennington Street.

RUGBY HUNT STEEPCHASES.

In our advertising columns will be found the programme of these chases, which are again joined by the Grand Military (to whose programme are added two chases for horses, the property of Yeomanry Officers), making a meeting that is annually becoming more popular. They will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 23rd and 24th of February, over that splendid grass course so well adapted for gentlemen riders, and with additional added money for some of the events, a successful campaign may safely be predicted with anything like favourable weather.

RIFLE CORPS.

On Thursday evening the annual meeting of the Town Company was held, Captain Seabrooke in the chair; there was a rather large attendance of members than usual. The statements of accounts for the year was, after some explanation and discussion, passed. Votes of thanks were unanimously passed to Alister Broughton-Leigh, Esq., for his kindness in granting the use of the range; also to the Honorary Members of the Corps for their help, and to Mrs. Benn for the use of her field for drill purposes. At the conclusion of the ordinary business of the meeting, Captain Seabrooke entered on the subject of the change of uniform which has become necessary under the new government regulations; viz., that all Rifle Corps must wear the uniform of the line with which they are brigaded. The Warwickshire Volunteers would therefore wear the scarlet uniform of the 6th Regiment. This would entail a cost on the Town Company of £250, and the question was how the money was to be raised. It would be necessary for each man to pay 13s. 6d. for trousers, and he (Capt. Seabrooke) was unable to say at present how the rest of the amount could be raised, therefore the meeting would be adjourned till the next drill night, when he would be able to decide. The

DEATH OF DR. CLEMENT DUKES.

RUGBY PHYSICIAN WITH INTERNATIONAL REPUTATION.

THIRTY YEARS A MAGISTRATE.

Photo: Dean, Rugby.

We regret to record the death of Dr. Clement Dukes, which took place at his residence, Sunny-side, Horton Crescent, Rugby, on Sunday night, aged 79 years. Dr. Clement Dukes was the second son of the Rev. Augustus Dukes, M.A., and was born in 1845. He came to Rugby on his appointment in 1871 as Physician to the School. He had an abrupt manner and a keen eye for the malingerer which made a visit to the "Doc" for a trivial ailment something of an ordeal. But cases of more serious illness he could display a kindness which won many wheezy hearts.

In his capacity as medical officer to the School he acquired a national and even an international reputation as a pioneer in the methods of securing the health of schoolboys and adolescents generally. He took his M.D. (Lond.) in 1878, after taking his B.S. with first-class honours and gold medal in 1869. He was elected Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians in 1900, and in 1911 was awarded the Bursar Hawkins Medal.

In 1903 he was appointed J.P. for the County of Warwick, and for many years presided as Chairman on the Bench.

He was Brigade Surgeon Lieut. Colonel of the South Midland Brigade of 2nd Volunteer Battalion Royal Warwickshire Regiment, and an officer of the British Empire for many years. He was also a staunch advocate of swimming and life-saving societies. From the time he came to Rugby he took a great interest in the Hospital, and on the foundation of the Hospital of St. Cross in 1884 became Honorary Physician, which for many years claimed a large share of his time and devotion. He was the author of many works and a recognized authority on school hygiene. His books, "Essentials of School Diet" and "School Health," had a wide circulation; for his "Lifegame" ("Education de l'Adolescent") he was awarded the silver medal of the French Society of Hygiene, and for his "Preservation of Health by Cleanliness and Temperance" he was awarded the Howard medal of the Royal Sanitary Society in 1884. To Morris's "Book of Health" he contributed the section on school health, and to Allibon's "System of Medicine" the article on the hygiene of youth. Dr. Dukes was also a specialist in skin diseases and was the author of several papers and lectures in the Encyclopaedia of Medicine.

Dr. Dukes had been in failing health since August last, when he was compelled to relinquish both his professional and public work, and the end came quite peacefully.

In his desire for simplicity, he particularly asked that there should be no flowers and no mourning. The funeral from which he suffered was that form of acute anaemia known as "myeloid leukaemia," which affects the blood and breathing, from which it was known he could not recover.

He leaves a widow and grown-up family consisting of four sons and three daughters.

The funeral has been arranged to take place on Thursday next at 2 o'clock in the School Chapel, by kind permission of the Headmaster.

The Bishop of Liverpool has kindly offered to conduct the service, and Mr. Vaughan has also offered to assist.

The flag at Rugby School was flown at half-mast when the news of Dr. Dukes' death was announced.

THE MAGISTRATES' TRIBUNE.

Tribeutes to the late Dr. Dukes were paid at the Rugby Petty Sessions to-day. The Magistrates were Messrs. T. A. Wae (in the chair), J. J. McKinnell, J. Carter, Mr. Arthur James, and Mr. J. Harrison, senior.

The Chairman said:—It is only right that we should be thinking to-day of Dr. Clement Dukes, who has so long sat in this Court and been so much of a friend to us. We who were brought into such close contact with him honoured and esteemed him, and now we can but express our most sincere sympathy to Mrs. Dukes and those who are mourning with her, whom he loved so well. Coming on the Bench in 1893, Dr. Dukes showed these qualities which, as the years went by, made him so invaluable in our deliberations.

All new Magistrates find in him a courteous Chairman, full of kindness to our interpreters, and in the carrying of himself, hating all lies and trickery, always ready to help the weak or those who are in need of sympathy and guidance. He has placed our Court high in the estimation of the country. As one who perhaps knew him best, I can say that he was a man who was like to the day, and by his deeds, lectures, discussions, and social functions and good comradeship found a fighting force in the constitutional principle against the extreme ideas that permeated the youth of to-day. To make their branch a success they had to interest and attract, and the Chairman said that he was satisfied that they could lay foundations that would give them one of the most successful branches of the League. They should be the foremost of the juniors who had not dived deeply into politics by proving to them that the past history of the organisation was one in which they could take considerable pride. The League was not a "flash in the pan" organisation, but was founded in 1906, and next year they would celebrate its coming of age.

It was decided, on the proposition of the Chairman, to form a branch of the League and to invite Capt. D. H. Parnell to be the first President. Mr. S. H. Parnell was elected chairman of a temporary committee, which will draft the rules and constitution. The committee was composed of the following, with power to add to their numbers:—Messrs. G. E. Green, R. Woodworth, F. W. Campbell, P. Dunbar, R. Griffiths, H. A. Rolleston, Miss Green, Miss Cooke, Miss D. Eden, Miss J. Ferguson, Miss M. Reed, and Miss N. Maffei. The minimum annual subscription was fixed at 1s.

A concert, contributed to by Messrs. N. Middleton and Mr. E. Vane, Messrs. L. Stewart, S. H. Parnell, H. Phillips, and T. Farnes, followed.

An account of this meeting will appear in the "Rugby Advertiser" Friday.

FEBRUARY "HOME MAGAZINE."

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

TO-DAY'S RUGBY PETTY SESSIONS.

TUESDAY.—Before Messrs. T. A. Wae (in the chair), J. J. McKinnell, Mrs. Arthur James, Messrs. J. Carter and J. Harrison, sen.

AT ARREST.

Pte. John Tennant, 2nd Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment, Watlington Barracks, Lechliffe, was charged with a larceny, value £4, the property of Alfred Dodd, of 17 Alfred Street, Sparkbrook, Birmingham, at Rugby, on January 13th.

As offered from the defendant and prisoner was required as an absentee and he asked that he should be kept in custody until an escort could be sent for him.

The Bench agreed to this course and did not proceed with the theft charge.

CY-CLIST'S CROSS WORDS.

Roubaix Arthur Clarke, painter, Pinnerchore, was summoned for riding a bicycle without a light at Pinnerchore, at 10.20 p.m., on Jan. 9th. Defendant pleaded guilty, and P.N. (ex) said the lamp was in a filthy condition and had no oil in it. When told he would be reported, he said: "I hope it will do you good. You must want something to do."

Defendant said he had not ridden 20 yards, and as it was moonlight he did not notice that the lamp was out.

Fined 10/.

UNDER-ESTIMATED THE FINE.

William Gough, engineer, 61 Craven Road, Rugby, was summoned for riding a bicycle without a lamp, at Rugby, at 12.45 a.m., on Jan. 8th. Defendant wrote pleading guilty and said it was a moonlight night. There was no one about and the constable was the only person he met.

P.N. Thruswell said defendant told him the light had just gone out. When told he had been given a mere excuse he said the lamp was out. He added: "I know it will only cost me five bob, so you might as well have the money now."

Fined 10/.

SEARCHING FOR CONIES.

Arthur Timmer, labourer, 99 New Street, New Bliton, and Thomas Albert Sheehy, 18 Bill Street, New Bliton, were summoned for being in search of conies on land occupied by Mr. Sledley, farmer, Little Lawford, on Jan. 7th.

Defendants pleaded guilty.

Mr. R. H. W. Thompson, solicitor, with his son, was three men on Clay Hill searching for conies. One of the men ran away, but defendant, who had a fence in a hole, stayed until Mr. Sheehy was taken to the lane, and they were caught. They gave wrong names and addresses and Sheehy became rather violent. He found more than his match, and they were taken to P.N. Thruswell. The prosecution was brought in to show that people could not cross those fields without notice, doing damage to fences, etc.

Supt. C. H. Timmer was fined 10/6 for a similar offence in October, 1923.

Timmer was fined 10/ and Sheehy 15/.

CHILDREN'S COURT.

Before Messrs. T. A. Wae (in the chair), J. J. McKinnell, J. Carter, Mrs. Arthur James, and Mr. J. Harrison, sen.

THEFT FROM GARDENS.

A two-year-old Rugby girl was summoned for stealing several specimens, value 5/., from the garden of Leonard Webb, 17 Princes Street, Rugby, on January 1st. The parent of the child, Thomas Maslin, was summoned to appear.

The child pleaded guilty and said she did not know why she took the brussels sprouts, except that a "big boy" she did not know told her to get them and give them to a Mr. Collins.

Detective Tame said he interviewed the girl and told her he understood she had said the sprouts were for Mr. Collins of the Barrow Head, Rugby, for 1/6. She said: "I am not the girl. I have not been there." Later she said: "I did take the bag, I went into Newbold garden and got over the fence. I sold them for 1/6 and told Mr. Collins my father had sent me."

Witness added that the girl said she had lost the money, but he believed she had spent it on sweets.

The girl was placed on probation for six months.

LEFT LAMP.

A boy living at Bliton, was summoned for riding a bicycle without a light, at Rugby, at 5.30 p.m., on January 12th.

Cross pleaded guilty, and P.N. Bending said the boy had no lamp on his bicycle. His excuse was that he had left it at home.

Defendant said he had to go to night-school and did not leave work until late.

Fined 3/6.

JUNIOR "IMPS."

BEACH SUCCESSFULLY STARTED IN RUGBY.

Conservative enthusiasm never was higher in the Rugby division than at the present time, and on Monday evening a start was made towards retaining and encouraging it by the formation of a Rugby branch of the Junior Imperial League. The concert room at the Conservative Club was crowded, and after an address by Mr. H. Cannell, O.B.E., secretary of the League, 250 members were enrolled.

Col. Ballbrook presided in the absence of Sir Arnold Griffiths, and said the Socialists devoted their entire time to propaganda, endeavouring to get young people to join their party, and they must work hard to frustrate the methods of the Socialist Party by drawing young people to the Conservative side.

The Chairman said in explaining the aims and objects of the League and in what direction it could benefit its members, said he had been recollections of the splendid band of young men that some years prior to the war were members of the organization in the Rugby division, and the League had given concrete looks to the constituency in the hope that following the example of so many hundreds of their junior friends throughout the country, they would stand against the forces of the League in Rugby. They had principles that any honest man or woman could defend, even at the strictest corner, and they were the principles which generated the great party at the present time. The object of the League was to bring the young men of the country to the front, to play their part as world citizens in their world-wide Empire, to form a band of young men and women for the day, and by the study of politics, economics, and social functions and good comradeship found a fighting force in the constitutional principle against the extreme ideas that permeated the youth of to-day. To make their branch a success they had to interest and attract, and the Chairman said that he was satisfied that they could lay foundations that would give them one of the most successful branches of the League. They should be the foremost of the juniors who had not dived deeply into politics by proving to them that the past history of the organisation was one in which they could take considerable pride. The League was not a "flash in the pan" organisation, but was founded in 1906, and next year they would celebrate its coming of age.

It was decided, on the proposition of the Chairman, to form a branch of the League and to invite Capt. D. H. Parnell to be the first President. Mr. S. H. Parnell was elected chairman of a temporary committee, which will draft the rules and constitution. The committee was composed of the following, with power to add to their numbers:—Messrs. G. E. Green, R. Woodworth, F. W. Campbell, P. Dunbar, R. Griffiths, H. A. Rolleston, Miss Green, Miss Cooke, Miss D. Eden, Miss J. Ferguson, Miss M. Reed, and Miss N. Maffei. The minimum annual subscription was fixed at 1s.

A concert, contributed to by Messrs. N. Middleton and Mr. E. Vane, Messrs. L. Stewart, S. H. Parnell, H. Phillips, and T. Farnes, followed.

An account of this meeting will appear in the "Rugby Advertiser" Friday.

FEBRUARY "HOME MAGAZINE."

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"

"The Dancing Craze" is the title of an article which will appeal to all lovers of dancing, for it is written by Madame Vasconi, the famous teacher, and is full of valuable advice to those anxious to perfect themselves in the art. "The American Woman as Wife and Mother," by Rebecca West, is the result of that brilliant author's recent visit to the United States. In it she portrays very vividly the attitude of the American woman towards home life, both from the domestic point of view and that of husband and children. This was the first of a series of articles entitled "The Sand Pit" will be appreciated by everyone who enjoys a love story set in a rural atmosphere. "Her Child," by Violet Quirk, describes the revolt of youth against undue oppression, while in "The Modern Idea"